

BOREDOM BUSTERS FOR ADULTS – MAY 15th EDITION

For the Eyes and Ears

- Little Richard: With the passing of this Rock and Roll icon, I decided to have a listen again to an album that I enjoyed as a child. Of course there are a ton of other great albums by Little Richard but his sophomore record is the album I remember listening to. Little Richard
- Community Virtual Table Read: The cast from the cult classic TV show Community are reuniting on Monday, May 18th for a Zoom meeting discussing the show and taking questions from fans. Community
- The Joe Rogan Experience: I am new to this podcast but have enjoyed so far. This program offers long form talks with a famous guest in an informal manner. The Joe Rogan Experience
- Snowfall: I discovered that I had this on Rogers cable on demand FX Now (Channel 100). This fictional show set in the early 80's actually takes pieces from real history as it follows the drug trade in LA. It is quite well done and interconnects different storylines well. Snowfall
- Mike Judge Presents: Tales from the Tour Bus. Mike Judge, creator of several popular shows (King of the Hill, Silicon Valley, to name a couple) puts a new spin on a music doc series. Each of these episodes tells the story of a famous musician and adds the stories of family and friends. The neat twist is that the show is done as a cartoon but not in a laughable way-it actually feels like you are still watching a regular interview just in a more colourful way. First 2 seasons are on Crave. Here's the trailer for season 1 Tales from the Tour Bus

- Want to play game show host with your family at home or a game to play with people over Zoom. I have found these templates that make for great games and have been making my own to play over Zoom. If you read the instructions, it is fairly easy to make your own game. Powerpoint Games
